Full review

Somewhere along the line, I'm hoping to be able to get an entire collection of David Arkenstone's CDs. I already have Caravan of Light, The Celtic Books of Days and this one, entitled Atlantis which is the last CD I had bought of his.

I suppose what attracted me to this title, was the whole mystery surrounding the idea of the possibility that once, a long time ago, such a world, named Atlantis had actually at one time existed. Even the philosopher Plato wrote about it in his Timaeus where he spoke of a legend he had heard of a mighty civilization that existed beyond the Pillars of Gibraltar and of which I have a copy of. The well-known psychic, Edgar Cayce during his trance-like states often described Atlantis You might say I'm bit of an Atlantean fanatic myself, so I was kind of amused that David Arkenstone choose to compose a CD with this legendary world that may have existed at one time.

As always, David Arkenstone composes all his own music, is the producer of his music on the Narada label, and plays all the instruments, and in my mind is nothing short of a musical genius. He has a beautiful dedication to his Atlantis CD which is:

This music is my tribute to the majesty and mystery of the great civilization of Atlantis May the spirit that guided their earliest generations find it's way into our hearts some day soon

And he most certainly does, in my mind create a wonderful musical tribute to Atlantis The music is indeed New Age in genre with a bit of jazzy overtones to it and there are some pieces that are actually very haunting. I was so inspired by the music from this CD that I did my own usage of the first track, labeled The Dream of The Gods as a CD slideshow presentation of my some of my photographic images and a DVD cut of my own Law of Attraction virtual vision board.

If you haven't introduced yourself to the brilliant music of David Arkenstone, you're missing a treat. Run, don't walk to your nearest music store and get this CD. I rate it a 10 out of 10.

The Tracks included in this CD are:

1. The Dream of the Gods
2. Tower of Light
3. The Gardens of the Citadel
4. The Temple of Poseidon
5. Jewel of the Sea
6. Festival of the Goddess
7. The Painted Sails
8. Across the Great Oceans
9. Fire and Water
10. Below the Ocean~The Secret of Atlantis
